Dear Sir or Madam,

Information Analyst – Public Health Intelligence

I would like to apply for the position of Team Support Officer – Public Health advertised on your website.

I am a recent graduate in public health who is passionate about health, data and making a positive impact in the world. I am seeking employment in an organization who shares my values, where I can apply my skills and in which I can achieve my full potential.

In the field of public health I am interested in the interplay of balancing the best macro statistical results with the peculiar demands of the individual. Identifying the best regime for the individual within the confines of the health system is a fascinating problem.

I am experienced in data analysis and have been leveraging the IT areas of traditional machine learning algorithms with the newer AI inference techniques to identify and analyze trends in large datasets. I leverage this in my interest in stream editing through which I run a YouTube channel in my spare time. Through this I have learnt a lot about how to capture attention and deliver an effective message, improving significantly with every upload. The channel shows how I can process large amounts of information and analyze it in order to extract the salient points into a condensed, engaging format.

I am currently employed at my local convenience store, working in all areas of the store: customer-facing, check-out, cashup & stock inventory as well as having responsibility for post office transactions, new staff supervision and evening lock-up.

I am required to provide support to members of the team as well as interact with customers and service requests and seek to improve our service at each point. In this respect I very much have a customer service mindset and continuous learning approach to work.

In my spare time I like to play strategy games and through this have experience of coordinating meetings, scheduling and preparing agendas for the various gaming meets both domestically and internationally.

I would be happy to meet for an interview to discuss further how I can make a positive contribution to your organization.

Thank you for your attention and I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

James Cumming
